

BSc (Hons) in Property and Asset Management

Property management is one of the recession-proof industries amid the current unemployment crisis. In response to the measures for creating job opportunities in the 2020 Policy Address, The Hong Kong Association of Property Management Companies even took the initiative to provide 3,000 new jobs for the industry. SPEED's BSc (Hons) in Property and Asset Management programme (full-time and part-time) is designed based on the seven functional areas of property management stipulated in the Qualifications Framework of the HKSAR government. This programme also offers practical elective subjects like Information Technology and Building Information Modelling for Construction and Consumer Psychology to enhance students' professional skills conducive to their career development in the property management industry.

Dr Joseph Chan, Award Leader, said, "This new programme nurtures cross-domain property management professionals to meet the great demand in the industry. Graduates can start their careers as an assistant property officer and gradually climb the career ladder to become a property manager."
